Report of Faculty Senate Chairperson – Dr. Liz Brown

Dr. Liz Brown noted she may need to leave early for a 2:00 class, unrelated to the presentations. She shared positive faculty feedback about this semester's students, who are noticeably more engaged, asking better questions, and participating more actively. She suggested this improvement may reflect students moving beyond the disruptions of COVID-era middle and high school experiences.

Report of the Staff Council Chairperson – Roxanne Torrence

In July, Staff Council held a retreat at Bowler Park focused on team building and planning future events, fundraisers, and engagement initiatives. Committees are prioritizing staff wellness and benefits, community outreach, and opportunities for staff connection. Staff Council is also preparing for Homecoming Week through Spirit Week, the door decorating contest, and participation in the Blue Parade, while continuing to strengthen staff support and community engagement.

Report of Student Government Association President – Olivia Lancaster

Good afternoon, everybody. I'm very excited to be here and provide an update on what we've been working on as an organization. It was a very busy summer for us. And I would say that one of our biggest priorities has been providing resources for our students on campus. We've been working on that through a couple of different avenues.

First, I'd like to talk about the launch of our new Blue Fridays 2.0 initiative, which works to get students involved on campus and engage with our support community. We are currently working to revamp our existing Blue Fridays to include different faculty, departments, student organizations, and more to really tie in all corners of our campus and see our spirit before widespread.

We actually just had our take off at the fountain today from 11 to one, which many of you walked through, and I am happy to report that it would be better than we could have expected. We had over 200 donations in the form of both like canned goods and clothing in exchange for our T-shirts. And as an organization, we have seen the levels of campus engagement here.

Students are really showing up and asking questions, interacting with their peers, and constantly seeking new ways to get involved. We are beyond excited that SGA is to be a part of this team and we are looking to make personal connections with as many students as possible.

As we move forward this semester, one of our organization's biggest priorities is making sure that SGA is proactive and that we are assessing the needs of the student body and identifying opportunities to improve and work with our campus partners.

Ultimately, the work we are doing is to make students so connected to our university. Thank you for your time, and I look forward to continuing to work with you all.
Thank you.

Report of the President – Mike Godard

Thanks, Chairman Fratt, and good afternoon, everyone. And I think that we're already hearing a theme with Liz's comments and Olivia's comments in terms of the excitement and the momentum that we see here on campus this fall. And that is truly a testament to our faculty, staff, and our students for engaging in the ways that they are

A little bit later this afternoon, you'll hear an update on our enrollment, and so I'm not going to steal any of Mary Beth's thunder today, even though I'd love to, but I won't, Mary Beth.

That is a great example of ways in which we found these partnerships that are going to further enhance the student experience with work-based learning opportunities, but with industry professionals leaning into what does it take for one of our students to be successful day one as they go out to work with organizations, with companies, and with industry partners. And so, we will look to model that across other areas around campus with other disciplines where appropriate as well.

The Scott College of Business, Master of Business Administration program was included in the Princeton Review Best Business Schools for 2027.

We had a grant award by NIH in the amount of nearly $250,000 to improve scientific instrumentation and better serve our students to make sure that they have those hands-on learning opportunities. I don't know, Christian, have you used that new piece of equipment yet? Okay, there you go. There's proof that that's already been a bit in the works, and I knew Christian was probably a part of the utilization of that new equipment as well.

Scott College, a Business Society for Human Resource Management student chapter, earned the Superior Merit Award. We had 16 incoming current students that are receiving support by the Next Generation Hoosiers Education Scholarship, which is in place to help prepare them to be successful educators once they graduate from Indiana State University.

One of the most exciting things today that's happened on our campus this morning is that we have a preview day. Our preview days are when prospective students and families come on campus to see what Indiana State is about. But in addition to this being a preview day, the first one we've had this fall, right, Mary Beth? We had about 100 students, but probably about 400 guests or so on campus today, is that we also unveiled our new college tour that we partnered with Amazon. Our perspective students and families that were here today, along with others that joined at 1030 AM, saw the premiere of that release. And so, I'd encourage you all to check it out as well. I think everyone will be able to see it now. It was noon, right, that it officially went. We'll make sure that we push that out in different mediums to ensure that you all have a chance to see that. It is a 30-minute-long segment, but it's all about our students. Ten of our students were highlighted in this across different disciplines, different stages in their college career. And it's a great way for us to promote the opportunities that students will have here at Indiana State University.

Jones and Hines halls are open this semester, for the first time in several years. I know that that's nostalgic for Bob Casey because he used to live in one of them.

There we go. Well, if you need a room, talk to Nancy Rogers. She might be able to get you looking to kind of move back in if you if maybe some of your friends will come back from homecoming again.

You know, we weren't immune to some of the storms that happened in the month of August when we had a lot of rain that occurred. And as a result, we had some water infiltration in some of our buildings. And I just want to give a shout out to our facilities team and to our residential life team for really stepping up during a critical time period when we're just about to welcome back all of our students for the fall semester. They really did have a double duty to ensure that we were ready to welcome everyone back and take care of some of the damage that was incurred from some of those severe storms that rolled through.

Our Presidential Scholars outing was a success. We raised 103,000 on that Gulf outing. We welcomed 21 new presidential scholars this fall, and we're looking forward to seeing everything that they do. But I will say that donor support goes a long way to making sure, again, those students have pathways to be successful here.

I want to give special recognition to our distinguished alums who will be honored on November 13th at the President's Dinner.Joe Evelo, Rachel Leslie, and Steve Zink, all distinguished in their own way, and we're looking forward to honoring them. All three will be back for homecoming as well as our Grand Marshals. Please join me in congratulating them when you see them back on campus here in the near future.

We were able in August to host the governor and IBJ for Innovate West Central Indiana in the Hulman Center and be able to bring together partners across the region to make sure that not only we talk about the educational opportunities here at Indiana State, but certainly how we all play a role together in making sure that we thrive moving forward.

Earlier this week, we had the West Central Indiana Partnership Success Summit that took place right on our campus. We had well over 200 individuals from 5 different counties come. Our own Jon Ford was one of the featured speakers at that event, and we were thankful to be able to bring people around that West Central region to Indiana State University's campus to talk about our success moving forward.

Athletics recorded its strongest year in corporate sponsorships, and separately, the men's basketball reception and golf outing generated over 200,000. Is that right, Nathan? And so that's about in a 24-hour period of time, $200,000 for men's basketball.

We continue to make progress on the Woodruff Sycamore Lofts, and we're looking forward to the ribbon cutting for that, so that'll be ready to go for to open off, open up our basketball season.

This past weekend, we also had the John McNichols Invitational Cross Country Meet. We are hosting the 2026 Division One National Championships for cross country in November. We have a lot of teams who are interested in coming to the Laverne Gibson Championship course to run. And we had 46-47 teams from across the nation here and some of the top programs that were here running. And that'll continue to be a popular venue leading up to the National Championship. We're thrilled to play part in that.

A reminder, if you're looking for things to do tonight, tomorrow, through the weekend, there's plenty of things going on. We have our bat festival that will happen tomorrow during the day and into the evening. We have volleyball tonight that's home. We have football tomorrow that's home. We have volleyball again tomorrow night. We also have the women's swim and dive that will have their inner squad meet that will happen tonight out of the Aquatic Center. So there are plenty of things to do.

I'd be remiss if I didn't announce a couple of key recent appointments. One of them is I'll embarrass Rondrell more because he's in the room. Rondrell will be moving into the Chief Public Relations Officer, which means that this will be Steve Susens last time joining you all in that role. Steve is moving on back into the industry that he spent a majority of his career in. So, we wish Steve well and welcome Rondrell into this new role at Indiana State University. I am thrilled that he's agreed to do that.

Dr. Emily Roberts joined us as our Executive Director of Career Services.
just over a month ago, and Jason Casey has been promoted to our Executive Director of Event Services and Facilities. Looking forward to his strategic vision and leadership as we look to fully utilize some of our assets and resources, including the Hulman Center. Our measure of success is continuing to have more students completing degrees, stronger connections with the careers and investments that serve the university well over time.

I appreciate the Board's counsel, their leadership and partnership, the work of our faculty, staff, alumni, and community partners. There's much to be encouraged about, but I remain focused on making sure that we turn progress into lasting opportunity for our students. Thank you, and go Sycamores.

Report of the Board Chairperson – Trustee John Pratt

There is a great deal of positive momentum at Indiana State, and I want to recognize a few areas that demonstrate the strength of our University community.

First, we have much to celebrate with this fall's enrollment. Indiana State continues to build on the progress of last year, with strong growth across several areas and encouraging signs that more students and families are choosing Indiana State.

This success reflects the collective efforts of our faculty and staff and the growing confidence in the opportunities and experiences our University provides.

We also have Homecoming just around the corner. We look forward to welcoming alumni, families, friends and members of the Terre Haute community back to campus to celebrate what it means to be a Sycamore.

Another important area of momentum is Indiana State's continued commitment to preparing students for the workforce needs of our community, the region and the state of Indiana. Providing students with the knowledge, practical experience and professional skills they need is a critical part of Indiana State's responsibility as a public university.

By listening to employers, building meaningful partnerships and creating more opportunities through a career-connected education, Indiana State is helping ensure that what students learn in the classroom connects directly to opportunities beyond it.

There is much to be proud of as we begin this academic year, and the Board looks forward to building on this momentum in the months ahead.

Financial Report - Vice President for Finance & Administration/Treasurer Seth Hinshaw

Indiana State University's fiscal year-end financial presentation reviews fiscal 2026 revenue, expenditures, operating results, and preparations for fiscal 2027. The report attributes the principal year-over-year pressure to reduced state appropriations, while describing continued growth in revenue streams under university control and expenditure reductions achieved through tighter budget management.

Fiscal 2026 Revenue Performance

The university finished fiscal 2026 with total revenue approximately $4.1 million below budget, representing a $6.2 million decrease from fiscal 2025. The report states that this decline was wholly attributable to the reduction in state appropriation. Excluding that reduction, fiscal 2026 revenue was approximately $400,000 below budget, or about 0.5 percent, and was nearly $1.5 million above fiscal 2025 revenue for the comparable period.

Key revenue results included:

- State appropriation: Funding declined by 5 percent, or just under $4 million, reducing the base budget from approximately $78 million to $74 million. The university also did not receive the anticipated release of the 5 percent state withholding, resulting in approximately $3.7 million of additional state appropriation reduction.
- Student tuition: Total tuition was approximately $67 million, about $400,000 below budget. Fall and spring tuition exceeded expectations by roughly $400,000, but summer tuition was approximately $800,000 below budget, with $7.1 million earned compared with an anticipated $8 million.
- Other fees and charges: These exceeded the prior year by nearly $500,000, reflecting fee and structural changes approved approximately a year and a half earlier.
- Total revenues: Overall revenue was approximately $150,000 below budget.
- Other incoming transfers: These were $266,000 below budget.
- Program fees: These exceeded the prior year by more than $200,000.

The report characterizes the revenue picture as relatively positive after accounting for the $7.6 million reduction in state appropriation received and approximately $1.4 million in additional revenue earned by the institution.

Expenditure Performance

Annual expenditures were approximately $1.2 million over budget, but total spending declined by nearly $5.5 million from fiscal 2025 to fiscal 2026. Expenditure reductions were associated with compensation, departmental expenses, scholarships, and institutional expenditure controls.

Major expenditure changes

- Compensation: Spending decreased by $2.4 million year over year and was approximately $2.3 million below budget. This saving was partly offset by higher-than-anticipated benefits costs, largely due to retirement and retirement incentive payments.
- Departmental expenses: These declined by $2.3 million, particularly through lower legal fees, travel, advertising, computer equipment, and maintenance costs. The report links these reductions to expenditure-control efforts connected with the state withholding and the nonstructural budget reductions adopted during the prior year.
- Student scholarships and fee remission: Spending decreased by slightly more than $1 million from fiscal 2025. The change was primarily associated with reducing the freshman housing scholarship from $5,000 to $3,000. A total scholarship budget shortfall of $1.2 million was addressed through a transfer from housing, consistent with the fiscal 2027 structural change that moves the housing scholarship from the current operating fund to the housing and dining auxiliary.
- Utilities and related expenditures: Costs increased by approximately $300,000 year over year and were $1.2 million over budget. The fiscal 2027 budget incorporated a higher utility allocation, and the university reported increased attention to energy-intensive chiller and steam plants, operational efficiencies, and small capital investments intended to reduce future utility growth.
- Insurance premiums: Spending was approximately $100,000 higher than fiscal 2025. The report states that changes to the university's risk profile and management plan avoided an additional $200,000 in premium increases that would have resulted from maintaining the prior policy and risk profile.
- Capital improvement: The $4 million in expenditure included $2.7 million transferred from a current capital account into plant reserves for fiscal 2027.

This transfer is intended to preserve fiscal 2027 resources that could help absorb some or all the 5 percent state withholding if those funds are not released.
- Budget reserve: The university fully used its $2.3 million budget reserve to help cover the revenue shortfall and expenditure overages.

The fiscal 2027 budget is expected to reduce ordinary compensation-related reversions and require more accurate budgeting at the beginning of the year, thereby limiting transfers between categories during the fiscal year.

Fiscal 2026 Operating Position and Fiscal 2027 Readiness

The combined fiscal 2026 operating result consisted of a $4.1 million revenue shortfall and approximately $1.2 million in expenditure overages, producing an operating deficit of about $5.3 million. The university addressed this through:

- $3.3 million of planned prior-year carry-forward funds.
- A transfer from the housing and dining auxiliary to support the fiscal 2026 housing scholarship.
- Approximately $2 million in fiscal 2026 carry-forward funds remaining for fiscal 2027.
- Approximately $2.5 million in capital funds brought forward as additional one-time resources.

According to the presentation, these remaining one-time resources provide sufficient capacity to absorb the 5 percent state withholding in fiscal 2027 if the state does not return those funds.

Budget Strategy and Institutional Priorities

Board discussion emphasized that the fiscal 2026 outcome could have been more severe and that the university managed the year without major disruption. Structural changes incorporated into the fiscal 2027 operating and auxiliary budgets are intended to align spending with actual costs, narrow category variances, and improve institutional coordination. The continued state withholding remains a constraint on achieving a fully balanced budget, while the return of withheld funds would materially improve the financial outlook.

The discussion also connected tuition revenue trends with enrollment performance. The university has frozen tuition, and board members noted that increases in tuition revenue from fiscal 2025 to fiscal 2026 demonstrate the budgetary effect of attracting new students. Future priorities include not only new-student enrollment growth but also retaining, supporting persistence, and helping students complete their studies.

Recognition

The presentation recognized University Controller Jeff Jaso, whose final month at Indiana State University was identified as occurring after 42 years of service. The report credited the controller and the controller's team with significant effort supporting the financial information presented.

Enrollment Management Report – Vice President for Enrollment Management Maribeth Stevens

Indiana State University's fall 2026 enrollment results show renewed momentum across freshmen, transfer, and graduate populations. The university enrolled 1,607 new freshmen, 518 new transfer students, and 505 new graduate students, producing 5% growth in total new student enrollment and the highest overall new-student total since 2020. The report emphasizes that this growth is distributed across multiple enrollment channels rather than depending on a single population or strategy.

New Student Enrollment

Freshmen

- The incoming freshman class of 1,607 students was the university's largest since fall 2020. It increased from 1,602 in the prior year and 1,419 in fall 2024, sustaining enrollment above 1,600 students for a second consecutive year.
- Indiana residents represented 89% of incoming freshmen. Particularly strong growth came from Southwest Indiana, Northeast Indiana, the Indianapolis metropolitan area, and the university's local territory.
- More than half of the class identified as first-generation college students, and 52.8% were Pell eligible, continuing the university's emphasis on access and opportunity for students across Indiana.
- The university enrolled 400 new honors students for the second consecutive year, indicating that enrollment growth extended across multiple segments of the freshman population.
- The results provide a foundation for expanding recruitment geographically while continuing to build reach beyond Indiana.

Transfer Students

Transfer enrollment increased to 518 students, up 13% from 458 the previous year and 7% from fall 2024. This was the largest transfer class since fall 2022.

- Indiana transfer enrollment rose to 313 students, compared with 264 the previous year and 253 in fall 2024. This represented a 19% increase over one year and a 24% increase over two years.
- The report attributes continued progress to coordination among admissions, financial aid, the registrar, and academic programs.
- Enrollment management is working to clarify the transfer pathway from initial consideration through admission, credit evaluation, financial aid, and final enrollment.
- The university is exploring a partnership with Lakeland Community College to expand recruitment in Illinois while continuing to strengthen its relationship with Ivy Tech.
- The strategy recognizes that transfer students bring prior college experience and benefit from a clear, predictable pathway into Indiana State.

Graduate Students

The university enrolled 505 new graduate students in fall 2026, compared with 446 the prior year and 479 in fall 2024. This was the largest incoming graduate class since fall 2020 and represented 13% growth over the prior year.

- The increase occurred despite significant challenges in enrolling international students, who represented a larger share of enrollment in fall 2024.
- New distance graduate enrollment reached its highest level since 2014, creating an additional avenue for sustainable enrollment growth.
- Graduate and distance students have different needs and decision-making timelines from traditional undergraduates, requiring tailored recruitment, program-positioning, and enrollment strategies.
- Enrollment management and academic affairs are continuing to collaborate on assessing market demand, positioning programs, improving enrollment processes, and delivering strong student experience.
- Graduate enrollment is presented as an important means of diversifying and expanding new-student enrollment.

Persistence and Completion

The report frames new-student recruitment as only part of the university's long-term enrollment strategy, with retention and graduation identified as essential to sustained enrollment health. First-year persistence was 65% for the fall 2023 cohort, 69.4% for fall 2024, and 67% for fall 2025. The 69.4% result was the highest first-year persistence rate in Indiana State history, while the most recent cohort remained above the fall 2023 level. The report contrasts these results with a historical low of 58% in fall 2011.

Fall-to-spring persistence has also improved, suggesting stronger student engagement during the first semester. The next priority is strengthening the transition from the first year to the second year so that students who return for their second semester alsocontinue into their second year.

Persistence Initiatives

The university's approach is described as proactive, coordinated, personalized, and student-centered. Key efforts include:

- Earlier identification of students who may need assistance, followed by timely intervention.
- More proactive advising and academic support.
- Targeted financial outreach to address barriers before they affect enrollment.
- Review of first-semester course choices to reduce unnecessary enrollment barriers within students' programs.
- Stronger orientation, first-year experiences, belonging, and engagement initiatives led in part by the Division of Student Experience and Engagement.
- Personalized re-engagement strategies and pathways for students who have stopped out and want to return to Indiana State.
- Continued use of lessons from recent persistence efforts to strengthen the student experience and improve degree completion.

Total Enrollment Context

Total undergraduate enrollment among Indiana students was described as relatively stable, moving from 5,039 to 5,021 students. Out-of-state and international enrollment declined, with total undergraduate enrollment reported as moving from 6,000352 students to 6,238 students. The report explains that fall 2024 was the smallest incoming class in the university's modern history, so the effects of that smaller cohort will continue as it progresses toward graduation. At the same time, the larger recent freshman and transfer classes are expected to have an increasing effect on total enrollment as those students advance.

Total graduate enrollment increased from 1,512 to 1,547 students, including particularly strong 19% growth in out-of-state enrollment. International graduate enrollment declined, and the university is continuing to assess sustainable opportunities for growth while monitoring federal regulations and related challenges.

The report also provides historical context: nearly 15 years earlier, Indiana State had recorded enrollment of over 13,000 students, but those figures often included non-degree and dual-enrolled students and were associated with substantially lower admission standards, including a 2.0 grade point average threshold.

Outlook and Board Response

The central forward-looking objective is to convert current new-student momentum into sustained enrollment growth and degree completion. The university plans to retain more students, continue expanding transfer and graduate enrollment, and enter new markets while building on its Indiana recruitment base. The report characterizes progress as occurring across several parts of the enrollment strategy and identifies continued opportunity for Indiana State.

Board members congratulated the enrollment leadership team and university administration, recognizing the results in the context of strong competition, declining college-going rates, and fewer students pursuing higher education. Questions focused on the origins of out-of-state students and the composition of the transfer population. Illinois was identified as the primary out-of-state market, with additional students coming from Kentucky and potential growth targeted in Ohio. Transfer growth was reported among students coming from four-year institutions as well as Indiana community colleges. Board discussion also suggested, based on anecdotal observations rather than formal data, that positive student experiences and word-of-mouth conversations may contribute to future transfer interest.

Revenues

State Operational Appropriation
Indiana State University's State appropriation was cut 5% or $3.9 million for 2025-26 and is reflected in the reduced base budget of $74.1 million down from $78.0 million in 2024-25. Additionally, the State is withholding 5% or $3.7 million. This withholding was covered by the carryforward budget designated as Reserve for State Withholding as the adjusted budget was reduced for both Operational Appropriations and Reserve for State Withholding.

Student Tuition
Total Student Tuition was below budget by $0.4 million. Fall student tuition of $31.6 million was above budget by $0.2 million. Spring tuition of $28.4 million is also above budget by $0.2 million as we continued strong retention between Fall to Spring. Summer tuition recognized $7.1 million which is below budget by $0.8 million. This shortfall, as well as other revenue shortfalls, was covered by the budgeted enrollment reserve.

Other Fees and Charges
Other Fees and Charges are above last year's amount by $454,713 due to new fees including Business Course, International Fee, and Honors College Fee implemented in the Fall semester. These total revenues are below budget by $148,797.

Other Income and Transfers
Other Income and Transfers are below budget by $266,436 as increased transfers from Residential Life reimbursement for utilities was offset by reduced transcript fees, commissions and salary reimbursements.

Program Fees
Program fees are above last year's total by $202,842 due to increased NHHS program fees.

Encumbrances and Carryforward
Encumbrances and Carryforward decreased by $1.8 million reflecting reduced budget carryforward from 2025.

Reimbursements and Income Reappropriated from Other Sources
Reimbursements and Income Reappropriated from Other Sources increased by $506,098 to reflect increased course fees and a transfer from Residential Life to fund Housing scholarships.

Expenses

Compensation
Total Compensation decreased by $2,436,455. Salaries and Wages had budget reversions of $2,752,466 while Benefits expense was above budget by $700.968. This was a result of reduced administrative, instructional, and support staff salaries and increased retirement incentive payouts. The overall reversion covered utility and other operating shortfalls.

Departmental Expenses
Total Departmental Expenses decreased by $2,255,755. Supplies and Related Expenses decreased by $2,121,116, reflecting reductions in legal fees, travel expenses, advertising, and computer equipment. Repairs and Maintenance expenses are down by $239,695 reflecting increased software maintenance offset by reduced HVAC and facilities maintenance expenses.

Other Committed Expenses increased by $105,056 resulting from increased property insurance premiums.

Utilities and Related Expenses
Utilities and Related Expenses increased by $293,193 due to increased electricity and miscellaneous natural gas.

Capital Improvements
Capital Improvement expenditures included $2.7 million that was transferred to plant fund reserves. These funds were earmarked to help cover the $3.7 million State withholding for fiscal year 27.

Student Scholarship and Fee Remissions
Student Scholarship and Fee Remissions shows a decrease of $1,086,644. This reflects the reduction of the First Year Housing scholarship award amount. The overall budget shortfall was $1,201,681 before an $1,985,653 transfer from Residential Life at the end of the fiscal year to cover housing scholarships.

Budgeted Reserve
The Budgeted Reserve of $2,300,000 was used to cover revenue shortfall and operating expense overages.

Transfers Out and Program Fees
Transfer Out and Program Fees increased by $174,645, reflecting increased course and program fees.

Reserve for State Withholding
Reserve for State Withholding covered the Indiana withholding of $3.7 million in fiscal year 26 with the remaining $1.1 million of budget reversion which included $0.5 million of recaptured marketing funds to be carried forward to fiscal year 27. An additional $900,000 budget reversion from fiscal year 26 carryforward will be added into fiscal year 27 for a beginning total of $2.0 million. These funds will be used to cover a $0.5 million base revenue line and any additional operating needs in fiscal year 27.
